Eureka College Helps Galatia

There were twelve college students, five adults and one religious sister that came to Galatia on March 13 and 14, 2013. They were in Harrisburg March 11 and 12, 2013 helping clean up efforts. The twelve college students were from Eureka College and Western Illinois College. The students represented the Catholic Newman Center at each college. Shown in photo are Father Eugene Radosevich and Rickey Cates with students and some of their pile of wood cleaned up at the Cates residence.

Jeff Cavins will be presenting a program at the Spalding Pastoral Center called "Steps to Eternity" which is an outline to develop one's spiritual life. Jeff Cavins will draw on Scripture to explain some of the keys to staying on that narrow road to life—things like living in humility, faithfulness, love, and forgiveness—as he gives practical ways to cultivate them on a daily basis. Those who have just entered the Church at Easter are invited to the event. Information/registration is on the diocesan website, www.cdop.org, highlight Education, highlight Office of Catechetics, highlight Forms – General.

Dr. Paradise will address the spiritual development of children and the parents. The presentation will be followed by break-out sessions which will provide some very practical suggestions for parents.

Following Jo Ann Paradise's presentation, the "Celebration of Faith in the Arts – The Year of Faith Diocesan Art Contest will take place in the Spalding Pastoral Center's patio area, under a tent. All children in grades K-8th, enrolled in CCD, Catholic school, parish or other Catholic organization, including home school, are eligible to enter. Artists are encouraged to explore the ways in which the Christ of Our Faith enters the world through our families, the ways in which the Faith strengthens our families, and/or the unique role of the family in God's Creation.
